

ALAN REED WEIL

Alan Weil is the Senior Vice President for Public Policy at AARP and director of AARP's Public Policy Institute where he leads a team focused on health, economic security, and quality of life for older Americans.

Previously, he was editor-in-chief of Health Affairs; executive director of the National Academy for State Health Policy (NASHP); director of the Urban Institute's Assessing the New Federalism project; and executive director of the Colorado Department of Health Care Policy and Financing, the state's Medicaid agency.

Weil is an elected member of the National Academy of Medicine and served on MACPAC (the Medicaid and CHIP Payment and Access Commission). He is the co-editor of two books and has published in a range of peer-reviewed journals.

Weil earned his bachelor's degree from the University of California at Berkeley, a master's degree in public policy from Harvard's Kennedy School of Government, and a J.D., cum laude, from Harvard Law School.